

Eastern Connecticut Association of REALTORS® Announces Retirement of Chief Executive Officer, John Bolduc

Eastern Connecticut Association of REALTORS® announces the retirement of John F. Bolduc as CEO after a 15-year career.

Some of Mr. Bolduc's contributions to Eastern Connecticut Association of REALTORS® include helping to shape the strategic direction that has positioned it as the primary source of comprehensive, up-to-date information on all real estate, lifestyle and community information in Eastern Connecticut.

John has been instrumental in helping the association understand, plan and adapt to a changing environment, while engaging REALTORS and the public through technology, social media and community events. John has been a forerunner for ECAR on calls to action for local housing opportunities and legislative/political issues that impact real estate and related issues.

Over the years, under John's leadership ECAR has raised nearly $200,000 for various non-profit organizations throughout Eastern Connecticut. "I am exceptionally proud of the ECAR's mission and what our REALTORS do to help people reach their dreams of homeownership and beyond", said Mr. Bolduc. "I will cherish all of the people I've worked with, the relationships ECAR has forged and the successes we've achieved".

John has been a Rotarian member since 2002, and currently holds the position of Treasurer of the Norwich Rotary. He is also Vice Chair of the Library Commission, and Membership Chairman of the Ledyard Historical Society. John looks forward to travelling, studying family genealogy, and spending quality time with his wife, son, daughter-in-law, and two grandchildren.

"I am confident that the Eastern Connecticut Association of REALTORS, which now includes the addition of our new Chief Executive Officer, Susy Hurlbert -- who has demonstrated that she will be a strong and effective leader -- is well-positioned to address the Association's challenges and capitalize on its strengths in the years ahead", said Quincy Clayton, President. "ECAR is has flourished tremendously under John's leadership, and I am sure it will continue to be at the forefront of real estate issues under our new leader." Ms. Hurlbert begins her position on April 11, 2016. □

Visit our web site at www.easternctrealtors.com and our blog at www.ECARVoice.com